DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: Page 6, line 23 states "Passages 128 and 120" however it should be ---Passages 128 and 130--.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 2 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Leibow (USPN 4528712).

Leibow teaches a painting apparatus comprising a handle (16) and a frame (14). A separator guide blade (42) extends from the frame. There is an applicator pad (24) adapted to apply a coating to a surface pivotally mounted to the frame (figure 7). There is an actuator means (54) connected to the applicator pad to move the pad from a closed position abutting the guide blade (drawn in phantom figure 7) to an open position remote from the guide blade (drawn in solid lines on figure 7). When in the open position, the applicator pad can be loaded with a coating. The handle is removably connected to the frame since they are not formed integrally.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1744

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Leibow (USPN 4528712) in view of Jang et al. (USPN 5860902).

Leibow teaches all the essential elements of the claimed invention however fails to teach that the handle includes an extension coupling for connecting the frame to a pivoting extension pole. Jang teaches a paint roller with a handle (152) comprising an extension coupling (figure 5a, elements 150 and 156 where 150 is received into the bottom end of the handle as shown in figure 1a) that is pivotally connected (154, 156) to the handle (figure 5c). It would have been obvious to modify Leibow's painting device handle to comprise an extension coupling for a pivoting extension pole as taught by Jang so that the paint device can be used to reach multiple heights and to adjust the direction of the painting device as well as the painting angle (col. 2, lines 58-62, col. 3, lines 1-13).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1, 9-11 are allowed.

Claims 3-5 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim 1 includes the limitations of an edging apparatus comprising a frame with a guide slot. There is a guide blade mounted in the guide slot. There are spring units connected to the frame and guide blade to resilient urge the blade to an extended position. There are two applicator plates with paint pads that are each pivotally mounted to the frame. There is a spring urging the plates from a closed position abutting the blade to an open position remove from the blade. There are actuating fingers on the plates to pivotally move the plates from the open to closed position.

Claim 3, includes the limitation that the actuator means comprises multiple applicator plates, finger means on the plates and spring means connecting the plates and frame.

Claim 4, includes the limitation that the frame has a guide slot for the guide blade and springs disposed in the frame to urge the blade outward from the frame.

Claim 9 and 11 include the limitations of an edging apparatus comprising a frame, a pad connected to the frame and a guide blade. The pad is pivoted remote from the blade, paint is applied to the blade and the pad is then pivotally moved to a position abutting the blade.

None of the prior art teaches these limitations nor would it have been obvious to modify or combine the prior art to achieve the claimed invention since none of the reference teach or suggest any motivation for doing so.
